

Latham and Watkins

Chicago, USA

Sylan Real Wood Veneer

A full height, flush cubicle with sleek fittings

The project.

Latham and Watkins employ around 2,000 attorneys and are one of the biggest law firms worldwide, with its largest offices being in the US.

The firm was founded in 1934 by Dana Latham and Paul Watkins and in 2013 The American Lawyer recognised the firm as an “A-List All Star”, for being one of only four firms to make the A-List every year since the list began.

The challenge.

The Architect for each project was Gensler, a world-renowned integrated architecture, design, planning, and consulting firm with 5500+ professionals networked across over 50 global offices.

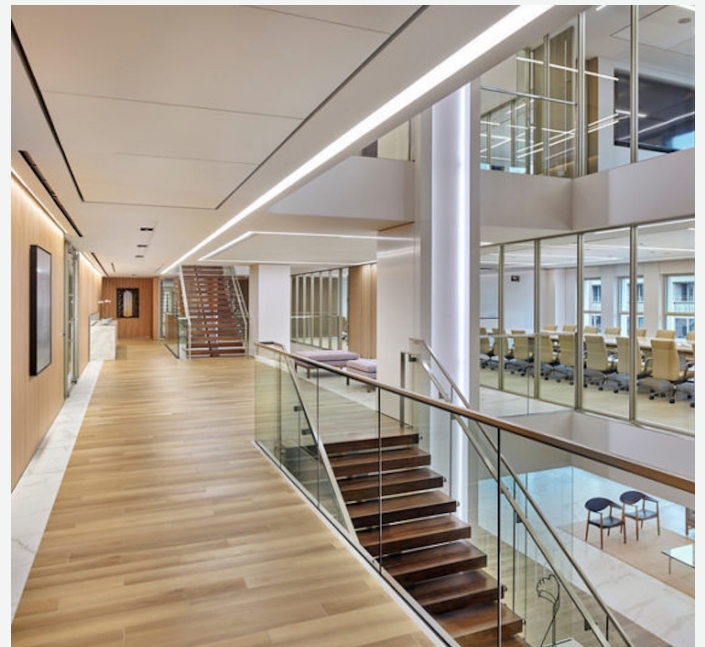

They had an ambitious vision for the offices and wanted to work with Venesta to echo the vision within the washrooms.

As an innovative and forward-thinking washroom design and manufacturing company, Venesta was excited to take on the challenge.

The solution.

Being such a prestigious project, the Architect chose Venesta’s Sylan Real Wood Veneer range for the new washrooms.

Syлан was designed and built to the client’s exact specification, incorporating a few modifications from our standard offering to create a totally unique system.

A full height, flush cubicle with sleek fittings in a rich American Walnut Veneer was specified for the cubicles, giving a contemporary twist to a classic look.

Syлан Real Wood Veneer is an ideal solution for where low impact environmental interiors are required. All Syлан Veneers are sourced from responsible and sustainable forests and are certified by the Forest Stewardship Council.

Venesta provided the staff of Latham and Watkins with a winning restroom retreat from their tiring and taxing working day. Needless to say, Venesta are proud to be partnered with such a prestigious client and Architect and delighted with their choice.